Introduction

In 2015 VSR debuted in the the Italian GT Championship, claiming 3 class victories from the 4 rounds disputed. In 2016 VSR became Super GT Cup Champions with Nicolas Costa.

Introduction

On the way to the title Vincenzo Sospiri's team claimed:

- 7 pole positions
- 7 victories
- 9 second and third place finishes
- 10 fastest laps

Headed up by multiple World Champion Vincenzo Sospiri, drivers benefit from coaching by Vincenzo and his team of Lamborghini Squadra Corse approved tutors, an on-site simulator and access to Fabrizio Borra's Fisiology Centre.

VSR also competes in the Asian Le Mans Series, Lamborghini Blancpain Super Trofeo Championship runs the Lamborghini Squadra Corse Formula Junior team and many of our drivers are included in the Lamborghini Driver programmes.

Drawing on his own experience as a racer and driver coach Vincenzo will be on hand to help each driver make the most of their talent.

Renowned for developing drivers Vincenzo has been instrumental in the careers of Kubica, Petrov, D'Ambrosio, Filippi, Frezza, Ragues, Sirotkin, Zonzini, Sato, Costa, Cozzolino, Michimi and many others.

VSR returns to the top with double win at Misano.

Krenzia, Costa, Baruch and Liang all savour victory.

12th June 2016 - Italian GT Championship, Misano

For the Misano round of the Italian GT Championship Nicolas Costa's team-mate Fernando Croce was sadly absent, still recovering from the horrific Imola crash a fortnight before when he was hit from behind while stationary at the side of the track. His place in the 106 Lamborghini Huracán was taken by Israeli driver Amir Krenzia making his debut in the Italian GT Championship. The driver line up for the 105 Lamborghini remained unchanged with Bar Baruch and Jia Tong Liang sharing the car.
